American Design Tradition Meets German Manufacturer of Barn Door Hardware

Beyerle launches new barn door hardware CASA in rustic design in the US and Canadian market

ATLANTA, GA: Barn doors are bringing the farm-style aesthetic into indoor living spaces. Bringing in a bit of the pastoral, barn doors are becoming the design feature of modern living spaces. Aside from their aesthetic value, this rustic look saves space: Where traditional hinged doors appropriate floor space as they swing to open and close, barn doors have a minimal footprint with their side-to-side sliding operation. Barn doors are ideal to divide a living space into sections, separate bathroom from bedroom, and create a space for entertainment.

Barn doors add a personal touch to living spaces

While hardware in stainless steel adds a modern touch and provides a beautiful accent for a contemporary theme, rustic design hardware gives warmth, adding a natural feel to the home. The combination of wood and bold fittings evoke a ranch-style found in a mountain or southwest landscape.

Rustic design, refined functionality

A rustic barn door not only makes a stylish statement, incorporating our hardware system increases the functionality and privacy of your space as well. Characterized by the straight flat track and connector that loops over the top of the wood door panel, the CASA flat track system makes every wood door unique. As the wheels slide easily and noiselessly over the flat track system when opening and closing, barn doors are ideal for private space where noise is not desired.

By choosing your own wood panel to accompany our CASA hardware, you are able to completely personalize your door and adapt it to your interior space. “The warm, natural color is an important characteristic of rustic hardware”, says Matt Orchard, National Sales Manager of Beyerle US. “The CASA system adds a stylish accent to interior spaces; one that is as secure as it is on-trend, meeting the American design tradition. That's why we decided it was time to offer this hardware in the US."

Wide range of sliding door hardware

In addition to the new barn door hardware CASA, Beyerle US offers a wide variety of barn door hardware for glass and wood doors in stainless steel. "It is great to see how customers complete their living spaces with our high-quality products. Providing them every day with pieces that enrich their home interiors is what we've been doing for more than 20 years," says Managing Director Andreas Beyerle.
