Beyerle US Joins the Decorative Plumbing and Hardware Association

German Manufacturer of Architectural Hardware Becomes a Member of the Most Important Hardware Industry Organization

ATLANTA, GA: Beyerle US affirms their commitment to integrity, fairness, and the highest quality products by becoming a member of DPHA (Decorative Plumbing and Hardware Association). Beyerle US' customer-centered operations prioritize the highest of standards, a hallmark of membership to the DPHA. In addition, to acknowledging a high degree of professionalism within the industry, membership to the DPHA offers opportunities for continual growth and connection with other industry professionals - something that attracted Beyerle US and solidified their desire to join.

Through its strong network of leaders within the decorative plumbing and hardware industry, the DPHA focuses, and has the objective, of bringing together all three member segment: dealers, representatives and manufacturers. Beyerle US is thrilled to be a participating member, sharing knowledge, and best practices.

National Sales Manager of Beyerle US, Mike Straw, emphasizes the importance of joining the organization: "As a member of the DPHA, we are solidifying our commitment to high integrity, and dedication to best practices within the industry. Being a part of this association helps us become a better company through the educational programs, and high-profile networking opportunities. Also, the DPHA will open us up to the best representatives in the industry to help us raise the bar for our customers, ensuring we continue to provide the best customer service and product knowledge training in the field."

Beyerle US is a German manufacturer of architectural hardware for barn doors for wood and glass shower door systems. Over the last 12 years, the company has gained valuable experience in the US market. From small bathroom renovations to big hotel chain renovations, the company is comfortable managing, and excelling, with varying project demands.

With its passion for high-quality products and knowledge, Beyerle US is taking this opportunity to provide members of the DPHA with quality architectural hardware and solutions. Architects, building owners, and craftsmen alike have come to rely on Beyerle US' distinct, German-made products.

"I am looking forward to attending the DPHA Conference at the Sawgrass Marriott in October to be among my peers within the industry, connect with new members, and reinforce old relationships", states Mike Straw.
